

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

STOCKYARD HILL
Wind Farm

#01 – March 2, 2018

Over the next two years, the farmlands between Beaufort and Skipton will be a busy work site as we construct the Stockyard Hill Wind Farm.

The construction of this significant project involves many people in designing, building and commissioning of Australia's largest wind farm.

Soon, residents in the area will see increased activity on local roads and on and around the project area.

The construction of the wind farm is yet to commence.

However preliminary work, including surveying and geotechnical works have commenced and will continue for the coming weeks.

Works to commence shortly include:

- Clearing of land for the main construction compound on Stockyard Hill Road.
- Preliminary works on the dedicated wind farm quarry (located on Stockyard Hill-Wangatta Road)
- Widening and upgrading several intersections in and around the Wind Farm area to allow for over-dimensional vehicle movements.

The works outlined above will result in an increase in traffic flow mainly along Beaufort-Skipton Road and Stockyard Hill Road.

To find out more information about the project head to www.stockyardhillwindfarm.com.au